

Nikkei Indexes Monthly Newsletter Vol.21

September 2021 Edition

- Nikkei Stock Average (Nikkei 225) marked 70th anniversary on September 7, 2020. – Please visit and bookmark the anniversary special site (Click here).

Monthly Summary of the Tokyo Market

- The Nikkei Stock Average (Nikkei 225) closed August at 28089.54, gained 805.95 points (2.95%) from the end of July. The index recovered month-end 28,000 mark since June and it was the highest in the month.
- In the end of August, Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell remarked at a central bankers' symposium that FRB could begin tapering this year but not in a hurry to raise interest rates. This comment boosted the US equity market and the Japanese market tracked the move. However, the effect of FRB Chair's comment was limited in Japan as the market was cautious on the Covid-19 woes. The Covid-19 infection cases recorded the highest in many prefectures including Tokyo and Toyota Motor announced to reduce global production by 40% in September. Worries over stagnation of the economic activities due to Covid-19 were widely shared and continued to cast a shadow on the market.
