Regarding the calculation of the Nikkei Stock Average
due to today TSE's failure

February 2, 2012
Nikkei Inc.

Due to the failure of transmission of the stock information by the Tokyo Stock Exchange (TSE), the TSE has suspended the trading of stocks affected by the failure during today's morning session.

For the calculation of the Nikkei Stock Average etc, regarding constituents of the indices, which were affected by the failure, (e.g. 20 stocks for the Nikkei Stock Average, described in the appendix), because these stocks had not been traded during the morning session, Nikkei had used base prices (i.e. yesterday's closing prices) for the index calculation based on the calculation rule.

From the afternoon session that began at 12:30 pm when the trading of these stocks resumed, Nikkei has calculated the indices such as the Nikkei Stock Average based on today's traded prices as usual.
