

Premium Data Package shortens the Nikkei 225 intraday data to 5 second intervals

Nikkei Inc. will shorten the intraday data (tickdata) of the Nikkei Stock Average (Nikkei 225) to 5 second intervals provided on “Premium Data Package(PDP)” (Nikkei 225 version), a subscription-based web data service as of July 18, following the shortening of the Nikkei 225 calculation intervals from 15 seconds to 5 seconds from the day.

The PDP subscribers are able to use the tickdata on the underlying indexes whose futures are listed on the Osaka Exchange. The tickdata on the Nikkei 225 and Nikkei 225 Volatility Index, and those on the JPX-Nikkei Index 400 are provided on the PDP (Nikkei 225 Version) and the PDP (JPX-Nikkei 400 Version) for the past 1 week respectively.

To know more about the Premium Data Package

<https://indexes.nikkei.co.jp/en/nkave/pdp>