

Nikkei has redesigned “Nikkei Indexes” website

Nikkei Inc. redesigned its official index website “Nikkei Indexes” on September 25 (JST). The new design enhances the noticeability of the list of our selected indexes, including the Nikkei Stock Average (Nikkei 225), as well as news and releases on the renewed top page. Additionally, the updated website offers improved accessibility to the information you need by aligning the menu bar on the left side on every page. We have also expanded the mobile-friendly display for smartphone users.

(1) Changes in layout

We gave the website a new twist for a better understanding to the Nikkei indexes, aligning the image of the Nikkei Online Edition. On the top page, you will find abundant information about newly developed indexes, indexes attracting increasing attention and other notable themes in addition to the Nikkei 225.

The screenshot displays the redesigned Nikkei Indexes website. The main header features the Nikkei 225 index value at 32,644.93, with a change of +242.52 (+0.75%) as of Sep/25/2023 (12:40). The page includes a sidebar menu with categories like Resources, Utilization, and Support. The main content area highlights a new index: 'Contributing to lowering GHG emissions - Nikkei 225 Climate Change 1.5°C Target Index'. It also lists other indexes: 'Nikkei Consecutive Dividend Growth Stock Index' at 45,292.14 (-0.16%) and 'Nikkei Progressive and High Dividend Stock Index' at 37,351.33 (+0.2%). The News&Release section features important updates such as 'Changes to the Nikkei Stock Average' and 'Periodic Review of "JPX-Nikkei Index 400" and "JPX-Nikkei Mid and Small Cap Index"'. A 'For Subscribers' link is located at the bottom of the sidebar menu.

To login our subscription mail and data service, the “Premium Data Package”, please click the “For Subscribers” link located at the bottom of the menu bar on the left side of the webpage.

(2) Better accessibility from mobile devices

As the number of users access our website through mobile devices such as smartphones is increasing, we have expanded the mobile-friendly display to all pages, whereas only the top page was supported previously. This enhancement allows you to choose the display option that suits your device environment, whether it be the PC display at the office or the mobile display when you are on the go.

(3) Enriched explanation for licensing agreements

The business usage of Nikkei indexes requires approval from Nikkei. Examples of such usage are shown with illustrations: displaying Nikkei indexes on websites and mobile apps, incorporating Nikkei indexes into investment trusts and derivative financial products, and utilizing Nikkei indexes for automatic market analysis by asset managers. Inquiry form is available on our website along with a FAQ section. We have also provided laconic summaries of the information necessary to understand before contacting us. Furthermore, we have made the procedure more user-friendly.

The URL of the “Nikkei Indexes” (<http://indexes.nikkei.co.jp/en/>) does not change after the redesign.
