

Changes to the Nikkei Stock Average

September 4, 2026 – Nikkei Inc. will make the following changes to the Nikkei Stock Average (Nikkei 225) constituents as a result of the periodic review. This release also includes the changes to the Price Adjustment Factor (PAF) in response to the stock split of some constituents.

1. Constituent changes due to the periodic review

Constituent changes (October 1)

Addition	Deletion
5016 JX ADVANCED METALS CORP. (1)	4902 KONICA MINOLTA, INC.
6525 KOKUSAI ELECTRIC CORP. (1)	543A ARCHION CORP.
9697 CAPCOM CO., LTD. (1)	7004 KANADEVIA CORP.

Note) Number in the parentheses is PAF.

In accordance with the Constituents Selection Rules, JX ADVANCED METALS (Materials sector) and KOKUSAI ELECTRIC (Technology sector) will be added because of high liquidity and CAPCOM (Information and Communications sector) will be added as a result of the adjustment of the number of constituents among sectors. KANADEVIA (Capital Goods/Others sector) will be deleted because of low liquidity and KONICA MINOLTA (Technology sector) and ARCHION (Technology sector) will be deleted as a result of the adjustment of the number of constituents among sectors. These changes will be made before the opening of the market on October 1.

Note) “Sectors” are industrial sectors defined by aggregating Nikkei 36 industry classification system into 7 broad categories. They are “Technology”, “Information and Communications”, “Financials”, “Consumer Goods”, “Materials”, “Capital Goods/Others”, “Transportation and Utilities”.
